

GOING FURTHER - Resources

Recommended Books: (*Available in the Faith@Home center)

Boundaries with Teens (by Dr. John Townsend)* Your sanity will survive the rocky teenage years, and so will your teens—provided you set healthy boundaries that will work to their benefit and yours.

Generation iY and Artificial Maturity (by Dr. Tim Elmore)* Both books talk about how to raise kids who can handle the real world, with a special focus on Generation iY (those born since 1990).

Life on the Edge (by Dr. James Dobson) offers Biblical principles to help young adults face "crucial questions about identity, education, marriage, career, God's will" and more.

Recommended Websites:

boundless.org webzine provides young adults with a community of mentors and fellow believers throughout the season of transition from high school to starting a family.

illinilandfca.org FCA seeks to see the world impacted for Jesus Christ through the influence of athletes and coaches.

Intervarsity.org Intervarsity is a college campus ministry with chapters around the country.

relevantmagazine.com Taking on a variety of issues, Relevant is dedicated to "God in our Generation". For young adults, the magazine focused on faith, culture and intentional living. A print version can be found in our Faith@Home center.

Urbana (urbana.org) and Passion (268generation.com) are conferences focused on inspiring young adults to seek God's purposes for their lives and live for what matters most.

Launching Young Adults

HomePointe
Pointers

Launching Young Adults

Staff at Mattis Avenue Free Methodist Church

Pastoral insights from Kurt Bruner, The Center for Strong Families

After years of saying, "When I grow up, I'm gonna be..." there comes a point in which your children will start the steps of actually making it happen. Dr. James Dobson calls ages 16 to 26 the "critical decade" as young people transition from childhood to an adult. We've all heard the phrase "failure to launch" describing young men and women who don't make that transition for one reason or another. Unfortunately, more and more parents are inadvertently keeping their children from growing up by protecting them from the risks necessary to adulthood. Are you preparing your child for the path of life, or are you caught up in trying to prepare the path of life for your child? How can you be intentional about successfully launching your older children into adulthood?

STEP ONE: Be a good coach

As the parent of a teen on the verge of adulthood, you are in the prime of the coaching years. You can motivate, encourage, challenge and advise, but you can't force feed. You can help your son or daughter articulate what they believe, challenge their thinking, remind them of the "basics" they learned during their earlier years, but the time has come for them to truly own their beliefs. Through that process, you can provide a safe environment to wrestle with and even question the values they learned as children. The key to your influence at this point is in maintaining a strong relationship and frequent, open dialogue.

STEP TWO: Give perspective amid their big questions

Making the transition into adulthood, your son or daughter will face big questions like: What kind of work should I do? Where should I live? What should I do with my life? The most important thing you can do during this season is to direct them back to overarching Biblical principles. The last words of King David to his son Solomon (in 1 Chronicles 28:9) provide a model for parents advising emerging adults: "And you, my son Solomon, acknowledge the God of your father, and serve him with wholehearted devotion and with a willing mind, for the LORD searches every heart and understands every motive behind the thoughts. If you seek him, he will be found by you; but if you forsake him, he will reject you forever."

In the midst of the practical advice parents may offer on setting goals, choosing a job, finding a spouse and so forth, we must also elevate God's principles such as...

- Unless the Lord builds the house, its builders labor in vain (Psalm 127:1).
- Lose your life to find it (Luke 9:23-24).
- Learn our days are numbered (Psalm 90:12).
- Seek first the kingdom of God (Matthew 6:33).

STEP THREE: Give a vision for marriage and family

Parents today often go to extremes to help their children get ready for college and the workforce, but don't know exactly what they can do when it comes to preparing them for the more important work of marriage and family. While a small minority will be called to life-long celibate service, most are called to marriage and family (Genesis 2:18-24). We sometimes overlook how much marriage and family serve as the organizing structure of life and the prime arena for our spiritual development. Even if the culture discourages you from taking an active role in this transition, you have a vital part to play in helping your children "leave and cleave." Actively modeling a Christian family is the foundation, and daily prayer for your child's future spouse and children is an important commitment. But our highly sexualized and anti-marriage culture also makes it essential that you provide guidance and oversight to help your children form strong families as a key emphasis of their launch into adulthood.